JUDGE:

RE: Speaking Invitation
A. B. Laffer Associates
Ritz-Carlton Hotel, Washington, D.C.
14 - 15 September 1987

Chairman of A. B. Laffer Associates, Arthur B. Laffer, has invited you to speak at the A. B. Laffer Associates Fall meeting at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in Washington, D.C. on September 14th or 15th. The Associates meet three times a year to enable executive officers in the financial field to speak with members of government. Administration and Congressional leaders are invited to discuss such domestic and international issues as supply-side economics, America's productivity, the financial markets, the role of the federal budget, and inflation. Last spring you received a similar request, but were unable to accept.

Since you will be overseas at this time, I recommend that you regret this invitation due to a conflict in your schedule. If you agree, I have attached a letter of regret to Mr. Laffer for your signature.

Dear Mr. Laffer:

Thank you for your kind invitation to speak at the A. B. Laffer Associates Fall meeting in Washington, D.C. Due to a conflict in my schedule, I will be unable to accept the honor. Since my busy schedule prevented me from attending your conference last spring, it was good of you to think of me again. Please extend my regards to the members of your organization.

Sincerely yours,

/s/ William H. Webster

Dear Judge Webster:

We missed you at our last conference. Your presence would have been a true highlight. Won't you consider joining us at our Fall meeting, to be held on September 14 and 15, 1987. We would, of course, be thrilled and appreciative with the opportunity to meet with you for a few minutes. We plan to hold our meetings at The Ritz-Carlton; however, we can easily bring our group to your offices if that would be more convenient.

To refresh your memory, I enclose a copy of our last invitation plus a few of our past Conference Agendas. Thank you for your consideration of this request.

Sincerely,

Arthur B. Laffer
Chairman

The Honorable Daniel Webster
Director Designate of the CIA
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, DC 20505

Dear Judge Webster:

On June 11 and 12, 1987, A.B. Laffer Associates is sponsoring their Twenty-first Washington Conference. The attendees, 35-40 of our clients, consist of chief financial officers, pension fund directors and investment managers.

We are inviting Administration and Congressional leaders to discuss domestic and international issues, including the evaluation of supply-side economics, restoring America's productivity, financial markets, the role of the Federal budget, and controlling inflation. A few of our past speakers have been George Shultz, General Alexander Haig, Senator Bob Dole and Paul Volcker.

I would like to extend a personal invitation to you to speak at our conference. Based on your background and knowledge we would like you to speak on a topic of your choosing for about an hour. This would provide you the opportunity to express your thoughts and ideas on issues you believe to be important.

This is a unique opportunity for members of the financial community to hear you in person - a privilege rarely afforded to them. We look forward with anticipation to your favorable consideration of our request.

Warmest regards,

Arthur B. Laffer
Chairman
